FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

My Dear Parishioners,

This Sunday's Scripture passages focus our attention upon the Word of God. The Gospel Reading is from only the fourth of the 28 chapters of Matthew's Gospel account. The first two chapters, of course, focus on the advent and infancy of Jesus. So, today's Gospel Reading takes place early in Jesus' public ministry and focuses on the basics.

That's fitting for this Third Sunday in Ordinary Time. The beginning of the Church year, of course, focused on the advent and infancy of Jesus. So, today's Gospel Reading during the early part of Ordinary Time focuses on the basics of following Jesus.

After Jesus calls two sets of brothers to become "fishers of men", He labors at three works of public ministry amidst "all of Galilee". Jesus teaches, preaches, and cures the sick. Yet the fact that the short form of today's Gospel Reading ends by focusing upon Jesus' preaching suggests how central preaching is to His public ministry.

In fact, the only words that we hear Jesus preaching in today's Gospel Reading are: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Repentance is the first word of Jesus' preaching the Word of God. From the perspective of those who hear the Word of God, repentance is the first word of following Jesus. When Jesus later commands His disciples to take up their crosses each day [Luke 9:23], this command includes the embrace of daily repentance.

Saint Paul in today's Second Reading draws our attention to the link between preaching and the cross of Christ. It's telling that the occasion for Paul writing this is divisions among the Corinthians. Paul's remedy for divisions within the Church is the cross of Christ. He even speaks to one of the pitfalls that he, as a preacher, has to work to avoid. This pitfall is the "human eloquence" that captivates in the short term but can bear no lasting fruit, and in fact does lasting harm by creating an expectation and desire within Christians for what is shallow.

The depth of the Word of God is only found finally in the cross of Christ. Every word of the Old Testament is fulfilled in the cross of Christ on Calvary on Good Friday, just as each word and work during Jesus' public ministry was so fulfilled. Every word and work of Jesus after His Resurrection, as every word in the New Testament books that follow the four Gospel accounts, and as every work of the Church in her sacraments, flows from the power of the cross of Christ. Of no sacrament is this more true than the Most Blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist, where the Word made Flesh offers Himself in sacrifice, so that we can join sacramentally in His singular act of salvation.

By embracing Jesus' cross, we can come to communion with the divine Person of Jesus Christ Himself. Only through this Cross can the Christian enter the life of the Son, and through the Son enter the embrace of the Father. In the order of salvation, this is the providential role of the Word of God.

Peace,
Fr. Monteleone

RAFFLE!

"WHY, FATHER?" by Fr. Emerson

Q: Father, in today's Gospel Jesus simply says, "Follow me," and people leave everything immediately. 🐟👣

Why does Jesus expect such obedience—and why does the Church still claim the authority to call people to conversion and mission today? 🤔✝️

A: This Gospel reveals something radical about Jesus: He does not ask permission. He speaks with authority. 🔔 When rabbis taught, they explained the Law. When Jesus speaks, the Kingdom arrives 👑. His command—"Follow me"—is not advice; it is a divine summons.

Christianity is not built on personal opinion or private interpretation. It is founded on the authority of Christ, who calls, forms, and sends disciples. When Simon, Andrew, James, and John leave their nets 🐟, they are not abandoning responsibility—they are recognizing who is speaking.

Jesus begins by preaching repentance, because conversion is the doorway to discipleship 🔄. The Church continues this call today not because she enjoys making demands, but because Christ entrusted her with His mission 🏰💡. To encounter Jesus and remain unchanged would be a contradiction.

Notice also where Jesus begins His ministry: in Galilee, a place considered ordinary and even suspect 🗺️. This shows that God's salvation is not limited to holy places or perfect people. Grace breaks into everyday life—and that's where Christ still calls us.

Finally, Jesus calls His disciples not just to follow, but to become something new: "fishers of men." 🐟 Faith is never meant to stay private. If the Gospel is true, it must be shared.

This passage challenges us:

Do we see Jesus as a teacher we admire—or as a Lord who commands?

Because once Christ calls, neutrality is no longer an option—and following Him always leads to life.

GOD BLESS THE NEWLY BAPTIZED

Gospel Today

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time / Matthew 4:12-23

In today's Gospel, Jesus chose His first disciples at the Sea of Galilee. Brothers Simon Peter and Andrew were the first to be greeted by Jesus, followed by James and John. At once they left their boat and nets to become fishers of men and women with Jesus, as He began His ministry.

Year A

Brothers James and John left their father Zebedee, their boat and nets, and followed Jesus.

As fishers of men and women, they would now help Jesus gather the people and preach the Good News.
