FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

My Dear Parishioners,

A few weeks ago, my sister-in-law was in London, and as she walked up to the gates of Buckingham palace, the flag was flying. This indicated, she thought, that King Charles was in residence. But there was no chance she was going to get near him. The gates were locked and he was well protected from the likes of the common people. The king we celebrate today is quite different. He died and rose again so that He would be with us always. In today's gospel Jesus describes what it will be like when He sits on his throne of glory, and twice He speaks of himself as King. Yet this king seems to operate more like a shepherd, separating sheep and goats.

This would not have been a huge surprise to Jesus own listeners; in those days kings were often seen as shepherds of their people. The great king David was a young shepherd when he was chosen and set apart to shepherd God's people. When Jesus himself was born in Bethlehem the place of David's origins, it was to shepherds that his birth was first revealed. He is a shepherd king. He knows each of his flock by name and calls them individually. He goes to great lengths to rescue any of the flock that have gone astray, even one by one. In the end, He gives his life for His flock.

This shepherd king identifies completely with each one of His flocks. Mother Teresa of Calcutta, now a canonized saint, was well known for the extraordinary way in which she reached out to the most deprived and the most wounded in here society. She was happy to immerse herself in tragic situations from which most people would run a mile. One day she was asked, 'What is it that motivates you to go to such extraordinary lengths in your work?' Her answer was simple. She said that you could it put it down to a few words that you can count on the fingers of one hand: you did it to me.

Christ the shepherd king identifies totally with His flock. And this is not just some clever play of rhetoric in order to get us moving. We see the same visceral connection in a totally different context: We know the story of the conversion of Saul, later St. Paul, on the road to Damascus. He had been persecuting Christians. He meets Christ on the road. Christ doesn't say, 'Why are you persecuting my brothers and sisters?' He says, 'Why are you persecuting me?'

In his monastic rule, St. Benedict says that when a monk welcomes a guest, it is Christ whom he welcomes. When a monk looks after a sick brother, it is Christ whom he serves. It is very sobering also not notice that those who are separated from the flock off to the left, like goats, are not murderers, rioters, those who attack children, or perpetrators of fraud. The crime for which they are eternally set aside is simple neglect: neglect of the hungry, the thirsty, the stranger, the naked, the sick, the prisoner. None of us need took too far to see this kind of neediness in our own family, our community, our neighborhood, our country. The tragic needs of some many people around the world are so great that it can be overwhelming to think of it, and we can end up deciding that it's all too big for us to handle. But perhaps a first step is to ask for eyes to see what is close at hand. Eyes to see what it is that I can do for the needs of people as they present themselves to me. In what way can I serve Christ the King as He presents himself in the people around me?

Peace,
Fr. Monteleone

ST. PHILIP PREPARATORY SCHOOL

Learning at St. Philip took many different forms this week, from hands-on science activities to creative writing and classroom discussions. Our younger Eagles explored everything from gravity and sources of light to volcanoes and motion. Students also strengthened their math skills through sorting, comparing numbers, subtraction, and addition. In Early Childhood, our littlest learners continued developing their letter recognition and early math skills while preparing for Thanksgiving.

Literature and history also sparked plenty of creativity and conversation. Students explored the lives of famous explorers, studied the growth of big business in America, and developed their research and public speaking skills through classroom debates. Our fifth graders are finishing their multiplication unit and preparing to begin geometry. They are also continuing to read A Cricket in Times Square, using the story as inspiration to write their own recipes. Meanwhile, seventh-grade students put their understanding of A Long Walk to Water to work by designing new book covers that reflect the novel's themes and characters. Our eighth-grade mathematicians tackled systems of equations through graphing, putting their problem-solving skills to the test.

We also took time to recognize the importance of Veterans Day. Our younger artists created beautiful poppy artwork to honor the men and women who have served our country. It was a meaningful reminder that learning goes beyond textbooks and that gratitude, respect, and service are important parts of our school community.

GIVING TREE

As we get ready to begin the Advent season and prepare for our Christmas celebrations, let us not forget our neighbors in need. Our annual Christmas Giving Tree is the perfect way to live out our mission to do the work of Christ. “It is more blessed to give than to receive.” (Acts 20:35) This year, we are able to offer two ways to participate, once again! To take part in our Online Christmas Giving Tree and make a donation, please visit our website to read through this year’s information. You can also visit our church vestibule to pick a gift tag off our In-Person Christmas Giving Tree, which provides a note on what can be donated.

Please return all gifts (and make online donations) by the 12:00 PM Mass on December 13, 2026.

FAITH NOTES

Thanksgiving: More Than a Day, a Way of Life

Every year, as Thanksgiving approaches, we begin to think about the many things for which we are grateful. Families gather around the table, friends reunite, and homes are filled with the warmth of good food and familiar conversations. It is a beautiful American tradition that reminds us to appreciate the blessings we have received. But Thanksgiving also invites us to reflect on something deeper: Are we grateful only when life is good, or have we learned to be grateful even when life is difficult?

It is easy to thank God when our prayers are answered, when our families are healthy, when our plans succeed, and when everything seems to be going our way. But what about those moments when life does not turn out as we had hoped? When we experience disappointment, struggle with uncertainty, or carry burdens that others may not see? Gratitude does not mean pretending that everything is perfect. Rather, it means recognizing that even in our imperfections, difficulties, and unanswered prayers, God has never stopped being present in our lives. We may not always have everything we want, but we always have reasons to be thankful.

In the Gospel of Luke (17:11–19), Jesus heals ten lepers, but only one returns to thank Him. All ten received the gift of healing, yet only one recognized the Giver. This is an important reminder that gratitude is more than acknowledging the blessings we receive. It is recognizing the loving God from whom every blessing comes. Sometimes, we become so occupied with asking God for what we need that we forget to thank Him for what He has already given. We pray for another opportunity, another blessing, another answered prayer, while overlooking the countless ways He has already been good to us.

For us Catholics, thanksgiving is not simply an annual celebration. It is at the very heart of our faith. The word Eucharist comes from the Greek word meaning "thanksgiving." Every time we gather for Holy Mass, we offer our greatest act of gratitude to God through Jesus Christ. We thank Him not only for the blessings of this life, but above all for the gift of salvation, for His mercy that forgives us, and for His love that never abandons us. The Eucharist reminds us that the greatest gift we have received is not something God has given us, but God Himself.

Perhaps this Thanksgiving, we can make our gratitude more meaningful. Let us thank the people whose love and sacrifices we sometimes take for granted. Let us remember those who may be spending this holiday alone, grieving the loss of someone dear, or struggling to make ends meet. And let our thanksgiving become an act of generosity, because the best way to express gratitude for God's goodness is to become an instrument of that goodness in the lives of others.

As we celebrate Thanksgiving, may we remember that a grateful heart does not necessarily belong to someone who has everything, but to someone who recognizes God's presence in everything. May our thanksgiving extend beyond the family table, beyond the holiday, and into the ordinary moments of our lives. For when we learn to see everything as a gift, we begin to live every day as an act of thanksgiving.

A blessed and grace-filled Thanksgiving to you and your loved ones!

- Fr. Paul Vincent Octubre

SOCIAL OPPORTUNITIES

COLUMBIETTES

Stop and Shop Food Collection Thank you!

On Saturday, November 7th, the Columbietes of St. Philip held a food drive at Stop n Shop in Clifton. Food was collected for Fr. English Center, Fr. Michael's Church pantry in Passaic and St. Peter's Haven in Clifton. The food was divided accordingly with St. Peter's receiving the baby food only. The $300 cash collected was divided equally between Fr. English and St. Michael. Shoppers responded with remarkable generosity. Many shared their own experiences with hard times and thanked us, saying no one should go hungry. We thank ALL that donated food and cash as well as the Columbiette women who came out to collect, sort, and load their cars with almost 20 carts of food on the cool and windy day.

In the spirit of Thanksgiving, Mary Ann and Barbara (co-chairs), also thank everyone who helped make this a most successful food collection.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe | Matthew 25:31-46

Jesus tells His disciples, the Son of Man will come in His glory and sit upon His throne. He will bless, from all the nations, every person who gave drink to the thirsty, something to eat to the hungry and paid a visit to the ill. The Kingdom of Heaven will be theirs.

One Kingdom One King

Fr. English Pantry Thanksgiving Appreciation

It was heartwarming to receive so much food this past weekend in spite of the fact that I forgot to put the date of the actual collection in the bulletin. The Thanksgiving Collection was very generous, and every bag was heavy and filled with much needed food items. For those who helped us load our cars, you know your kindness was so appreciated! The next collection will be in January 2027, and we will focus on health care items and toiletries. So, if you see things on sale like toothpaste, shampoo, hand soap, wipes, deodorant, lotion, Q tips, etc. that would be beneficial for the future. Food items are always needed too, but we have had zero toiletries this past month. "There are those who give with joy, and that joy is their reward." -Khalil Gibran. Blessings to all and if you have any questions, please call Mary Ann at 973-809-7120.
